

Advocacy Day 2024

Intellectual & Developmental Disabilities (I/DD)

January 17, 2024

What Do People Need to Live in their Community?

Summary: To be a part of their community, individuals with I/DD need appropriate support, services, and accommodations. This includes both, in their home, and in getting out into their community. These supports may be physical supports, like ramps, lifts, or technology, or they can be supports provided by people. Individuals need to have access to a variety of service options that meet their needs and they need to have enough well-trained, and well-paid support workers so that they can receive quality care and fully enjoy their community.
